A ROBBERT OF FOUR THOUSAND DOLLARS BY A COLORED SERVANT GIEL.—Mr. William Johnson, who resides on Chesnut street, above Forty-first, had living with him a colored servant girl, named Ann E. Miller, aged 23 years. Mr. Johnson, in the early part of the present month, received money to the amount of $4057, of which $3516 were in seven-thirty coupon bonds, and the balance, $657, in United States notes.

Having no place at his residence wherein to safely kept this treasure, he piaced it in a pocket-book, which during the day he put under lock in the safe of the Chesnut and Walnut Streets Passenger Railway Company, but at night was careful to place it under his pillow, so that the least movement would awaken him. But it never occurred, apparently, to Mr. Johnson, that business men are liable to forgetfulness, and will often leave valuables to a getfulness, and will often leave valuables in a decidedly exposed and unsafe condition. One morning (the 12th inst.) he hurried to his busi-morning (the 12th inst.) he hurried to his business, Laving the wal et under the pillow.

Ann Miller, whose province was to do the chamber work, espled the waller, and appropriated it, with its contents. When questioned by the owner, who soon discovered his loss, as to its whereabouts, she felgued utter ignorance, but was so fervent in her protestations that suspicion was aroused. Sergeant Sannders, of the Thirteenth District, learning of the transaction, went to the house of one of Miss Miller's friends, at a place called "Woodland Terrace," and had no sooner broached the subject than the young lady, going up stairs, returned with the money, saying that Ann had requested her to keep it.

On counting the money only one ten dollar bill was missed. Ann was immediately taken in custody, and was this morning committed by Aidermen Allen to answer at Court. Her lady friend was also held as a witness. It is not altogether safe to allow money, in very small or large amounts, to lie about in an unguarded manner.

Last night, about 12 o'cock, the saloon was bereft of its occupants. Mr. Mower took a chair, placed it at the front door, and had mounted it preparatory to extinguishing the light which distinguished his building, when one James Brown, coming along, cried out, "There is the "———," and attacked him. Mr. Mower was pulled from and attacked him. Mr. Mower was pulled from the chair, and when attempting to defend himself he was stabbed by Brown in the left side, just above the heart. The wound is a very ugly one, about two inches in depth, and very long.
It is thought that if inflammation does not set in, it will not prove fatal. Brown, after the commission of the deed, fled, and secreted himself in a wagon at Tenth and Canton streets, where he was arrested this morning. Alderman Toland committee him to await the result man Toland committed him to await the result of Mower's injuries.

It has heretofore been stated that the United It has beretofore been stated that the United States Supreme Court gave no reasons for dismissing the Georgia and Mississippi Injunction bills, thus leaving the public to its own conjectures regarding the course of that tribunel. The reasons have not yet been written, and will not be known officially until the next term of the Court. But from what has transpired since its adjournment, there seems to be no, denbt of the fact that the Justices who denied the filing of an amended bill in the Mississippi case, did so on the ground that it had no relevancy to the original bill, and was not supported by proof that General Ord intended to seize the property of the State; and, besides, it was considered that if such a course should be in an application for an injunction apart from the considerations connected with the Reconstruction acts, as in the case of the State of Texas, to which an Injunction was granted on the basis of the complainant, who prayed that the writ might issue to restrain the payment of certain Texas bonds represented to have been frandulently obtained during the Rebeilion. COURT OF QUARTER SESSIONS—Judge Brewster.—The morning session was taken up with a bigamy case.

The detendant, Harvey K. Meyers, was charged with having married Elizabeth Hotler in Feb uary, 1852; and in April 1866, bis legal wife being them still living, married amanda Volmer. The first alleged marriage was proven clearly, and the second almost as plainly, the clergyman to titying that he had married a couple exactly answering the description of the defendant and the woman he was alleged to have married in April.

The defense alleged that the defendant had not been sufficiently identified. But a witness testified that the defendant introduced him to Amanda Volmer as his wile at a skatling party.

The jury rendered a verdict of guilty.

A motion was made in arrest of judgment.

GIRARD COLLEGE-ANNIVERSARY MEETING OF GIRARD COLLEGE—ANNIVERSARY MERTING OF THE ALUMNI—ADDRESSES OF KANE O'DONNELL, ESQ., AND OTHERS.—The 21st of May being the birthday of Stephen Girard, the graduates of the noble institution which he founded in our midst have been accustomed to celebrate the event by holding on that day their anniversary exercises. The Association of the Alumni held a business meeting at 10 o'clock this morning, in the College buildings, at which officers for the ensuing year were elected. The Association has about one hundred active members, nearly all of whom were present on the occasion. present on the occasion.

At half-past 11 the customary addresses were delivered, the orstors being Kane O'Donnell, Esq., of the New York Tribune; William Ward, Esq., of Chester, Pa.; and Walter Johnson, Esq., of this city, all of whom are graduates of the institution. institution

Mr. O'Donnell spoke at some length on the education of children, claiming that more womanly aid was needed. He referred to the graduates who had attained positions of honor and trust, and concluded as follows:—

and trust, and concluded as follows:

Are you noble? Are you base? To these two questions all science and culture administer. What matter if your brain be not as cunning as Machiavelli's or Talley rand's. If, with whee humality. you have learned the religion of reverence and aspiration?

Fame seems a questionable prize, ambition a doubtful virtue: but duty and self-conquest offer us profound and permanent investment. Are you poor, and do you toil? Then, with cheerful heart take old John Dekker's warbling consolation:

Art thou poor, and hast thou golden slumbers?

Swimmest thou in weal, yet sirkest in thine own case!

case!

O punishment!

Then he that actiently life's burden bears
No burden bears, but is a king; a king!

Work apace, work apace,

Honest labor hatt a lovely face.

True wisdom belongs to the hero who is his own paymaster. Epough that under Providence we fulfill our fellew-clisenship with the human race; that we ended for to build "not fame, but godlike souls," Why should our ideal of youth be fevered with the appetite for reward, and lose a noble self-nossession? "Say not that Ceear was victorious," Say not that Cresar was victorious, With toil and strife who stormed the house of fame.

"Say not that Cresar was victorious.

With toil and strife who stormed the house of fame. In other sense this youth was glerious.

Himself a kingdom wheresoever he came."

It is a trite saying, that we must find in our own hearts true sovereignty and reward; but it renews itself with vivid truth. In conselves we must build serene empire. Wealth and love and science and beauty, distilled through the alembic of suffering, yield us but one final treasure—simplicity.

Here then, is the solvent of a true life. Friends, we may not be great or rich, but let us endeavor to be simple, to be true. Do you remember the kind, good Thackeray's prayer, "Be each, pray God, a gentleman"? With such thoughts let us faithfully serve our destiny and our fallow men, feeling that the world is our home and God our father.

At 2 o'clock this afternoon the annual dinner of the Alumni is given. This is usually an occasion of great good cheer and hearty rejoicing. The table is burdened with the choicest delicacies of the season, the repast being varied by toasts and appropriate responses. Throughout the day the Liberty Cornet Band discourses musically in its effective style.

FROM WASHINGTON THIS AFTERNOON.

WASHINGTON, May 21. [SPECIAL DESPATCHES TO EVENING TELEGRAPH.] Booth's Diary.

The Intelligencer publishes Booth's diary, but as its brief contents have been mostly auticipated, it created general disappointment, in view of the noise which has been made about it. The President Going to Boston.

Washington Commandery, No.1, Knights Tem-plar, held a Communication last evening to confer concerning the contemplated visit to Boston. A communication was received from President Johnson, in which he states that he will visit Boston on the occasion, should nothing transpire in the meantime to prevent headers so. He has not decided, however, whether he will make the journey by rail or by water.

Return of General Strant, General Grant returned to-day. A severe storm prevented his visiting Appointation Court

A HUNT FOR JUAREZ. TRIP OF MR. CAMPBELL'S BEARER OF DISPATCHES -HIS INTERVIEWS WITH BERRIOZABAL, GOMEZ,

AND BUARES. From the New Orleans Pleayuse, May 16,

From the New Orleans Picayure, May 16.

Among the arrivals in this city this morning was Mr. White, the swift messenger sent to Mexico by Mr. Campbell, in accordance with the instructions of Mr. Seward. He brings scaled despatches to Minister Campbell from President Juniez, the contents of which are unknown. Arrived at Brownsville, he wrote out for the Ranchero an account of his trip, from which we make the subjoined extracts:—Crossing the Rio Grande, from Brownsville to Matamoras, Mr. White immediately had an interview with General Berriozabal, the Governor terview with General Berriozabal, the Governor of Tamaulipas, whom he describes as a large, stout man, about thirty-five years of age, of quite dark complexion, intelligent countenance, full whiskers, and a perfect gentleman in his address and general "make-up," and speaking broken English, General Berriozabal immediately gave Mr. White a letter, accrediting him to General Gomez, commanding at Monterey, and ordered a mounted escort to accompany him to the latter point.

He left Matamoras on Monday, April 15, and arrived at Monterey the evening of the 18th—distance, 275 miles. On the evening of his arriterview with General Berriozabal, the Governo distance, 275 miles. On the evening of his arri-val, Mr. White had an interview with General Val. Mr. while had an interview with General Gomez, who is a small, lightly-built man of about fifty years, of dark complexion, with a clean-shaven, intelligent face, and who speaks no English. General Gomez gave nim all the necessary information in an affable and gentlemanly manner, and on the morning of the 17th Mr. White renewed his journey towards Sau Luis by stage.

INTERVIEW WITH JUAREZ. Arriving in San Luis on Sunday evening, April 21, at 4 o'clock, Mr. White immediately delivered his despatches. The next day he had three interviews with the heads of Government, including President Juarez and a number of his Secretaries, and at 12 o'clock on Bionday night had concluded all his business, and was ready to leave Tuesday morning on the return Lin.

and was ready to leave Tuesday morning on the return trip.

Juarez is a slow-motioned, stout, heavy-built man, about fifty years of age; a full-blooded Indian, with short, straight black hair and eyes, a clean-shaven, broad and course-featured face, expressive of much determination and general intelligence, and has a large and well-set head. He was dressed with much taste and neatness, in black broadcloth, and for a man of his size and general "m ke-up," has a good address, and a most easy, if not to say graceful, gait and carriage of person. His utterance is slow, and marked with much decision; he, however, speaks no English.

Mr. White was treated by Juarez and his officials with much couriesy and consideration; in

Mr. White was treated by Juarez and his officials with much couriesy and consideration; in fact, the deportment of the Mexican officials with whom his mission brought him in contact, was of such a character as would suggest the idea that it was intended to convey a favorable impression of the Liberal cause and Government, through him, to the United States authorities. San Luis is a large city of 50,000 people, well supplied with good water from wells. There are a number of heights around it, which could be made excellent defenses for the city. It contains a magnificent cathedral, innumerable churches, and a splendid theatre. The Governor's palace is also a splendid structure, ernor's palace is also a splendid structure.

Mr. White made the round trip, 1700 miles, inside of fifteen days, two days and three nights of which he laid over at Monterey and San

Death of an Aged Newspaper Publisher. Mr. William B. Townsend died at his residence, Clifton, Staten Island, at 6 o'clock last evening. He was born in Connecticut in 1790, and had attained the ripe age of seventy-seven years. Mr. Townsend came to New York as early, we believe, as 1812. He made his start here as a merchant, but in 1818 joined Theodore Dwight as the business partner in the old Daity Advertiser. In 1836 that well-known paper amalga-mated with the recently established New York Express, in which Mr. Townsend continued for nearly twenty years with the Brookses (one of Dwights being still a writer on the paper), when he retired to his place at Clifton, to take care of his real estate on the Island. He was a gentleman of singular amenity of manners, amiable in temper, and liberal, but firm, in his political views and consistent in his Christian bearing. He had been an invalid for several years, con-fined for the most part to his house and grounds. and was fully and peacefully prepared for the last messenger.—N. Y. Commercial Adver-

Assassination in Brooklyn.

BROOKLYN, May 21.—About 1 o'clock this morning, a citizen named William Bishop Carr, while on his way to his home, No. 197 Gold street, was assassinated near his residence by an ex-police sergeaut, named M. T. Skidmore, formerly attached to the Forty-fourth Precinet.

The weapon used by Skidmore was an airgun.

Officer Dyer happened at the moment to be watching Skidmore, whom he believed to be intent on committing a burglary, and seeing Carrfall, gave the assussin chase, and succeeded. in effecting his capture. Carr was taken to the hospital, where it was found that the ball had penetrated his brain. There is no hope of his recovery. On Skidmore's person was found a set of skeleton keys, and he was disguised with a pair of talse whiskers.
